We will be visiting somewhere new to us, the Mercer Museum & Fonthill Castle! Historian and archaeologist Henry Mercer (1856-1930) recognized the need to collect and preserve the outmoded material of daily life in America before it was swept away by the Industrial Revolution. Mercer gathered almost 30,000 items ranging from hand tools to horse-drawn vehicles and assembled this encyclopedic collection in a system of his own devising. To enhance the collection's educational value, and to share it with the public, Mercer decided to design and build a museum to display the artifacts. Join us as we take a journey through this museum and the Fonthill castle! Please dress accordingly and wear comfortable shoes as there will be a lot of walking. Due to limited accessibility, folks who are not ambulatory or in wheelchairs may not be able to fully access and enjoy all parts of our tour.

The cost for this activity will be $45.00 which will include tickets, staffing, and transportation.

We will be meeting at the office for this activity at 12pm and returning at 5:30pm. Feel free to bring snacks for the ride there or back, but please eat lunch before arriving at the office. We will not be stopping for a meal!
